The Feast of the Holy Family

God's presence is found in living out the theological virtues of faith, hope and love within our families by Rebecca Vitz Cherico

As the oldest of six children, I spent a good deal of my youth taking care of my brothers and sisters, but nothing prepared me for the depths of love I would feel when each of my own five children were born. In the days following my first baby's birth, though, I was beset by horrible fears. Deeply disturbed, I called a friend, who wisely pointed out that my fears stemmed from my love. I was afraid precisely because I knew I had received a tremendous gift.

Something new and beautiful - a precious life - was now part of my world. Recognizing that our primary task as parents is to introduce our child to the reality of God's love, it was clear that faith, too, was an invaluable gift to be received, before it was something to be passed on.

The first step in instilling faith is to recover our sense of wonder at this gift, which in turn reveals that our lives are about a relationship. We are here to know, love and serve God - to love and be loved - which is why we must teach our children to pray.

Our children are given to us so that we can love them and help them to love God. But they are also given to us so that we can be loved by them and learn to love God through them. Most parents know they have a responsibility to educate their children, but it's more difficult to remember that our children are also here to educate us and to help us get to heaven. How true this must have been for the Holy Family. Just as God entrusted Jesus to a human mother and father - and Jesus (God himself!) was obedient to them - Mary and Joseph learned much about God's love and tenderness for them by watching over Jesus.

Through our children, we gain an intuition of unconditional love, as well as a path to help us become closer to God's perfection and to learn to love as he does. When our children look at us with devotion, they show God's love and mercy for us. And when they won't sleep as infants, or have tantrums as toddlers, or disobey us or get embarrassed by us when they're older, they're helping us learn to enter the heart of God, who loves perfectly and unconditionally.

To find Christ in the flesh today, we can introduce our children to Christians who joyfully live their faith, to the poor and needy, and to the fullness of the Church's sacramental life in confession, Mass and eucharistic adoration.

We are also called to help our children to receive the gift of hope. The French poet Charles Péguy wrote that hope "loves what has not yet been and what will be in the future and in eternity." Our hope is grounded in a great certainty: Nothing we might do can ever prevent God from seeking a relationship with us and with our children. As Pope Francis has explained, even our sins can become occasions of encounter with God's mercy, and our awareness of this mercy is the basis of our hope.

Before becoming parents, we have many ideas about how to do things. But once children arrive, we may feel overwhelmed or discouraged. The task is just too big for us on our own. God wants us to be aware of this and to know he is there.

Though at times we may feel like giving up in the face of our limitations, God takes our efforts and can multiply them. In the miracle of the loaves and fishes, Jesus doesn't make a meal out of nothing; He takes the food people brought. When we say "yes" to Him in our families and give the little we have, He makes it enough. Then we get to see the miracle of His presence.

Our Catholic Faith Through the Ages

Fr Dan's lecture series on the history of the Catholic Faith this Advent.

The fifth century marks the fragmentation of the Roman Empire. Rome is attacked by barbarians and the West begins its entry into obscurity and darkness. The East remains for the most part a shining light of Christianity providing stability during the upheaval of this century; however, it too is plagued by its own problems. Come and see how the church survives this century and how the pope is able to still speak for Christ in the midst of a splintered and broken world. Class will follow the 12:05 Mass on Tuesday December 29th. Additional classes will continue January 5th and January 12th. Meet in the new Gathering Space in the Angelorum at St Matthew Parish. No cost to participate.

No need to have attended previous classes.

Want to Grow in Holiness in 33 Days?

Want to start the New Year in a way that will transform your work, your marriage, your family, and your life? Are you ready to learn the quickest, surest, and easiest way to holiness? In our hectic day and time, St. John Paul II and Blessed Mother Teresa knew that the quickest way to be transformed into a saint is through a relationship with Our Blessed Mother, Mary. Join us on a journey to holiness as we begin a 33-day preparation for Marian Consecration on February 11, 2016. We will individually read about, and reflect on four great Marian giants: St. Louis de Montfort, St. Maximilian Kolbe, Blessed Mother Teresa, and St. John Paul II. They will teach us how to draw closer to the Sacred Heart of Jesus through the Immaculate Heart of Mary. In our weekly meetings, Mondays beginning January 11, 2016 at 6:30 pm at Holy Name of Jesus Parish, we will pray, share our insights within our small group, and watch a 30-minute DVD presentation. The teaching DVD by popular author and speaker, Fr. Michael Gaitley, MIC, brings our individual reflections and group experience into a clear and livable focus. If you are looking for a simple, yet profound way to be spiritually renewed, develop a deeper relationship with Our Merciful Savior, and grow in holiness, join us for the 33 Days to Morning Glory Retreat. Please contact Judy Borchardt at 715.842.4543 ext. 3 for more information and to register. The cost of the program is $25 for the book and the participant workbook. However, please do not let the cost prevent you from registering. Deadline for registration is January 4, 2016.

CHRISTMAS CHEER THIS YEAR - 2015

WOW! Another amazing response from our parish members to our 6th Annual "Christmas Cheer This Year"! We had 35 parish families donate 115+ gifts for some of the precious children of our parish. The parents were overwhelmed when they saw how generous and kind you were.

Because of your generosity, we were able to help children from our parish have a Christ-filled Christmas. The Spirit of the Season was definitely shining at Holy Name of Jesus Parish! Thank you so much!

NOTE: Extra thank you goes out to Meganne Sann for her help in organizing the gifts
